SARSAPARILLA

EAD, REFLECT, DECIDE.—The virtues of B. Sars parilla have been celebrated for more than two hundred years, during which long period it has been in more or less repute-every thing,, however, depends upon its mode of preparation, and unless taken in considerable quantities, and persevered in for some time, it is nerfectly useless. When properly prepared and administered, it is a sovereign remedy in Rheumatic affections, Scrofula and all cutaneous complaints, such as obstinate eruptions of the skin, pimples, or pustules on the face, biles which arise from ar impure habit of body, scaly eruptions, syphilitle complaints, mercurial diseases, vicers, diseases of the liver, general debility, and all impurities of the blood. The truth of these remarks have all been tested and declared, by some of the most eminent French and English chemists and physicians-among the former are Lavoisien, Chaptal, Pele ier, and other, of Paris, and among the latter, Sir Astley Cooper, Sir John Home, Abernethy, and Letsom, in London.
Wallace's Concentrated Syrup of Sarsaparilla, now offered to the public, contains not only the virtues of this particular article, but also that far famed wood, called the Wood of Kife, article, but also that far famed wood, called the Wood of Kile, and among other important additions, forming altogether that well known composition under the name of Liscon Diet Drink, a medicine peculiarly calculated for the complaints above enumerated. The manner of preparing the Sarsaparilla by Dr. Wallace, having been made known to Dr. Harrington, Dr. Smith, Dr. Parker, Br. Goodrich, Dr. Adams, and Dr. Carter, of the different cities in the U. States they have evinced their approbation of it, by invariably prescribing it to their patients, and recommending it to their professional brethren; all doubts and cavils therefore upon the superior merits of this composition must cease forever, but in order to satisfy the this composition must cease forever, but in order to satisfy the most incredulous, the particular mode of preparation is here subjoined, by which it will be perceived that it is of four times the stength of any ever before so'd, it behoves the purchaser therefore to look well to that fact and purchase only of the proprietor's sole Agent, at the Druggist store corner of Mulk and Bath streets, directly opposite Pearl street, where, for more thad two years, it has met with the greatest approbation—Price $1 a junk bottle, or six for $5—each bottle sealed with Mede of Preparation. In addition to the strongest decocti an of the root, there is also subjoined, the costly extract of Sarsaparille, and the fluid extract, the former prepared by Mandee, Weaver & Mandee, of Wolveshampton, the greatest Chemists in England, and the latter a will known Chemist in ner of Milk and Bath streets, opposite Pearlst.

N. B. The above preparation is the very best medicine which can be used during, and on the approach of Spring.

We continue our bills of mortality of lost laws from the over-talking of the opposition in Congress. The distress, it will be seen from an examination of the list, is in a great measure owing to the mode of killing time and bills, so successfully prosecuted by the enemies of the administration. The cause of our calamities may then be set down to over-issues of the banks, over-trading of merchants and over-talking on the part of the federal lawyers in

BOSTON MORNING POST.

SATURDAY, APRIL 15, 1837.

Legislative Frauds .- The Yankees are accused of tricks in trade; but there is no kind of trade, in which there is more tricks and deceptions practised, as it appears to us, than in legislation. We do not apply this remark to the Legislature as a body, but to those leaders and managers, who frame bills, or contrive amendments to them The statutes are crowded with provisoes, exceptions, and peculiar phrases, which convey a certain meaning to the honest, unsuspicious members who vote for them, or apparently convey no important meaning whatever, when in fact they contain, like the Trojan horse, the very means of deceiving and defeating the intentions of a majority of those who receive and sanction them.

In the new license bill, there are two provisions, very cunningly and ingeniously introduced, by which the ultratemperance leaders hope to procure to be enacted covertly, what they have in vain, again and again, attempted to procure openly, but in which they have found themselves opposed by a majority of the Legislature.

In the second section of the new bill, is the following provise, introduced without the least necessity, and not at all connected with the subject of that section. After providing, that Inns may be licensed, " without authority to sell any intoxicating liquor," it is " provided, that nothing contained in this act, or in the 47th chapter of the Revised Statutes, shall be so constitued, as to require the County Commissioners to grant any licences, when, in their opinion, the public good does not require them to be granted."

It is contended by those, who are in favor of granting licenses to a certain extent, that the laws do not give anthority to the Commissioners to decide, that no licenses shall be granted, but only that they shall decide upon the proper persons and the proper number; the law evidently contemplating, according to imm-morial usage, that one or more persons in the town are to be licensed. It has not, we believe, been found possible, thus far, to bring this point of law before the Supreme Court; but if it could be so brought, there can be little doubt how the question must be decided. Attempts have been made to give by statute, expressly, this disputed power to the Commissioners; but he Legislature have refused to do it. But here, covertly, and by stealth, is introduced a provision, altogether uncalled for in this act, and the effect of which very few members, if any, will suspect, which will confer stamp. this very power, perfectly, fully, and indisputably. Let those who " wish to vote understandingly, as their expression is, open their eyes, and look carefully at this deceptive proviso.

Another deceptive provision in this bill is in the fourth section, in which a third conviction of selling alcohol, &c. without license, is punishable by imprisonment. The understanding of the members of the Legislature will, we have no doubt, generally be, that a person once convicted, and afterwards violating the statute, and being again convicted, and being thus punished twice by fine, may, if he again violate the law AFTER two such convictions and fines, be punished by imprisonment. But this is not the strict purport of the fourth section. All these violations of the law may take place in one and the same day, and be tried at one and the same term of the court; and thus. without any space left for rejentance, or for amendment. after the first and second punishments, (which repentance and amendment these pureshments were intended to effect,) the offender is liable, at the same time, not only to several fines, but also to the severe and degrading punishment of pendence, for St Petersburg.

Every exertion was made by those who lead by the nose the Vigs of Ward 5 to bring out their whole strength, and for a week previous to the election, the leaders had their evening meetings at two or three shops in Cambridge street, to devise measures to accomplish their object; and so alarmed have the Vig Committee been, for fear that they should not succeed, that it is said they entirely lost their sleep for three or four nights previous to the election. The Bell Wether of the Vigs was at the polls from the opening to the closing, and by his great exertions, and the Vig runners, who scoured the Ward for voters, they at last succeeded in electing the Doctor-had one quarter part of the exertions been made by those opposed to him, they could have defeated the election over and volved in the future will produce." over again. "Cleanse the foul Bosom of that perilous stuff which weighs upon the Heart."

Dr. LOVEMAN'S Balm of Gilead is universally acknowledged to be peculiarly efficacious in all inward wastings, loss of appetite, indigestion, depression of spirits, trembling or shaking of the hands or limbs, shortness of breath, and consumptive habits. It thins the blood, eases the most violent pain in the head and stomäch, and promotes gentle perspiration. By the Medical Faculty this medicine is much admired being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fi being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fi tion. By the Medical Faculty this medicine is much admired being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the flores of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a good digestion requires.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead is recommended to the weak, the relaxed, and debilitated, as an agreeable and speedy restorative; and considered as a cordial, is essential to the comfort of ladies of fashion, being a preventive against cold, when taken before going out to parties, balls, routs or the play. It will enliven the spirits and invigorate the mind and body, and if taken after fatigue, it will with a few hours sleep, take away all larguor consequent on broken rest, and give relief from every unpleasant sensation.

It is a most valuable remedy for such diseases as are attended with the following symptoms, namely—a great straitness of the breast, with difficulty of breathing—violent palpitations of the heart, sudden flasees of heat in various parts of the body—at other times a sense of cold, as if water was poured on them—flying pains in the arms and limbs, back and belly, resembling those occasioned by the gravel—the pulse very variable, sometimes uncommonly slow, at other times very quick—yawning, the hiccough, frequent sighing, and a sense of suffication, as from a ball or lump in the throat—alternate fits of crying and convulsive laughing—the sleep unsound, and seldom refreshing, and the patient often troubled with horrid dreams. Much has been said by interested individuals against Medicines that are advertised, but there is a very important observation to be made respecting Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead, that unless its operation was gentled safe and efficacious, it could not have obtained the unexampled demand it has acquired.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

This Cordial has been uncommonly successful with young people who have the appearance and air of old age, who are pale, effeminate, benumbed, stupid, and even imbecile; whose bodies are become bent, whose legs are no longer able to carry them, who have an utter distaste for every thing, and are totally incapacitated. Where the stomach is frequently disordered, the body is weakened; paleness, bodily decay and emaciation succeed, and the eyes sink into the head. The virtues of Dr Loveman's Balm of Gileadare demonstrated, in oradicating the worst and most dangerous symptoms of nervous debility, and nothing has tended so much to establish the fame of this medicine, as its certain success in those complaints which strike their roots so deep in the constitution, and are so fatal to the happiness of mankind.

Dr Loveman's Balm of Gilead has risen in repute with every trial of its efficacy. Some, perhaps, unacquainted with its virtues, not having perused the Guide to Heslth, may be induced to ask what is the Balm of Gilead good for? What complaint doth it cure?—To answer this it will be necessary to "Hold the Mirror up to Nature."

Let those who are afflicted in the following manner reflect on the cause that produced such havoc upon the "wholesome appetites and powers of life:"—disordered stomach, dry cough, weakness in the voice hoarseness, shortness of breath upon the least exercise, and relaxation of the whole system. Those afflicted with paleness, languor of the eyes, weakness of sight or memory, should take time to consider Linnæus's advice, that "youth is the important period for forming a robust constitution," and that "nothing is to be dreaded so much as premature excess." The foundation of a happy old age is a good constitution in youth; temperance and moderatio, at that age are passports to happy grey hairs.

For such as have violated these precepts, then, this healing behm is suitable—complaints in poets, the lover and the eulogist of the ladies, never forgot, in his odes, to mentiod of the teeth of pearl.

Ovid never for one moment lost sight of the "balmy breath" of his ladies, and his earnest recommendation to both sexes was ever to "keep your teeth elean, and your breath sweet." The ancients had the means of doing so. Anacreon's beauties were as noted for their flowing zones and their eyes of fire, as for their teeth of pearl and their breath of balm.

Ovid, who has taught us how to love and be loved, laid more stress upon the teeth and breath, than any other point—and verily these precepts are worthy of oar practice.
